[illegible] on the Centennial.

[illegible] Oct. 28.—A Paris dispatch says American [illegible] over the publication of a letter [illegible] in Germany by M. De Isummard, chief [illegible] commission to the Centennial Exhibition. The letter is summarized as follows: [illegible] transmitted to me and my deputy are [illegible] grievous character. Americans themselves [illegible] set fire to the building containing empty [illegible] goods, hoping to destroy French [illegible] and articles for exhibition stored in [illegible]. A second attempt of the same kind [illegible] made within the last month. Worse than [illegible] police employed by the Centennial Commission are purposely chosen from the worst degraded elements in the United States [illegible] are thieves without exception. They [illegible] from exhibitors in the French department and all others. There exists an understanding [illegible] these knaves and the judges call up [illegible] hearing, when complaints are made at [illegible] to the complainants and as a re[illegible] of the criminal's guilt being [illegible] they are acquitted. Even more than this, [illegible] be possible thieves count on the [illegible] to give them signals when the [illegible] has arrived to begin work.

[illegible] epistle concludes with a vile at[illegible] the virtue and manners of American [illegible] cannot be transmitted by cable or [illegible] in print.

A Calumny Refuted.

[illegible] Oct. 29.—The following letter will appear [illegible] to-morrow:

[illegible] Editor—Sir: I have read with profound [illegible] the letter of M. De Isummard to his [illegible] in Vienna. I was attached to the commission [illegible] to the Philadelphia Exposition and I [illegible] that in that capacity as well as a Frenchman [illegible] received most delicate attention at the hands of [illegible] people. I believe all the commissioners will say the same. The accusations that [illegible] purposely set fire to cases of [illegible] in the French department is so mon[illegible] that I cannot allow it to pass with[illegible] a flat contradiction. I was in America [illegible] that accident occurred and no [illegible] it more than the Americans. There was [illegible] will, I will answer for it. If the fire had been [illegible] work of an incendiary the whole country [illegible] have proclaimed its indignation. M. De [illegible] should have drawn his information [illegible] less partial source before [illegible] with an act so vile. Once more my duty [illegible] of the French commission compels me [illegible] against the imputation cast upon the [illegible] people by M. De Isummard. Accept the assurance of my distinguished [illegible]

MARQUIS DE TALLEYRAND.

[illegible] 27, 1876.

The indignation caused among Americans here [illegible] Isummard's letter is intense, and will probably [illegible] vent on a public demonstration of some [illegible]

POLITICAL.

The Way the Democratic Reformers Expect to get Votes.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—The police last night captured, [illegible] for the issue, 8,000 bogus tax receipts in this city in the hands of two prominent members of the Democratic party. It seems that a few days ago Hon. Christian Kneass, chairman of the Republican City Committee, to whom credit for unearthing this great fraud is due, was informed that the Democracy intended flooding the city with bogus tax receipts, and that the great trouble was to procure paper with water mark "[illegible] tax, 1876," on it. At last paper was obtained. Last night while the rank and file of the party were [illegible] Gen. McClellan a reception, a wagon came out of [illegible] alley near Sixth and Decker streets in the fourth ward. This was followed by Detective Harry Weyle. The carriage was driven to the headquarters of the Democratic State Central Committee, No. 1001 Walnut street. Here Henry Marcus, ex member of the city council from the 4th ward, alighted with Samuel Josephs, a leader of the Democracy and a candidate for the legislature for the 1st district, appeared. In a short time Marcus and Josephs appeared coming from headquarters, each carrying a large bundle. The bundles were placed in the carriage and Marcus got in and Josephs went up Walnut street. Weyle and police followed in another carriage and at Locust street below Nineteenth overhauled the carriage containing the bogus receipts. The party were driven to police headquarters, where it was found that it was a great capture, receipts having the required water mark and could not be detected from genuine. Marcus was given a hearing and held in $5,000 bail for violating the election laws. A warrant was issued for Josephs, and he will be arrested before morning. The driver of the carriage said the receipts were to be taken to the printing house of Gillon & Nagle, Fifth street, below Walnut. This capture prevents the consummation of the greatest fraud which has ever been attempted here and shows where the party of reform intended to get voters.

Tribulations of Anti-Tammany.

New York, Oct. 27.—The anti Tammany conference committee held a stormy meeting to-night. F. B. Harte reported that he had conferred with Gen. Arthur of the sub committee of the Republican party and he told him that the Republican party would not combine with anti Tammany unless they threw Andrew H. Green and James O'Brien off their ticket. This report was received with indignation and a resolution was drawn up deciding to hold no further conference with the Republican party. Anti Tammany now proposes joining the Independent Germans and citizens association and putting a straight ticket in the field.

Registration of Votes.

About 42,000 votes were registered to-day, making 115,900 in all.

Fraudulent Registrations.

New York, Oct. 28.—During registration yesterday many tramps and non residents succeeded in getting their names on the lists. Three one story buildings on Roosevelt street occupied as bar rooms registered forty names. Republicans are active, however, both here and in Brooklyn. Several additional arrests there have been made and it is said a wholesale terror is inspired. A raid will be made simultaneously very soon. The prisoners are in all cases taken before the U. S. courts. About 11,000 naturalizations have been made in New York in the last three weeks.

Hayes at the Centennial.

The Times' Philadelphia dispatch says Hayes decided to make his visit as quiet as possible, but it was not easy to escape recognition, as every recognition was instantly followed by the gathering of an enthusiastic crowd. He was kept on the move nearly all day. Whenever the party entered the State building they were as usual requested to register. The governor would write his name with others and this at once led to his identification. "There's Gov. Hayes!" "There's Hayes!" etc., was instantly heard around the rooms and there would be a rush toward him and a frantic effort to shake hands on the part of the more enthusiastic. Some cheering by those who were further off was the immediate and invariable consequence, and so too was the precipitate flight of the governor, who three times fled to the refuge of the cars, where he rode around the grounds till he rested, or was driven off by fresh recognition. There was no doubt about the feeling of the people. It was spontaneous and hearty. There has been no visitor to the Centennial whose visit could compare in point of the enthusiasm it created with that of the governor's. Only his persistent determination to avoid it prevented his tour from being turned into a sort of triumphal progress. During the afternoon he remained in his rooms at the hotel, receiving only a few friends and acquaintances.

The Betting Argument.

The Tribune says in pools odds have remained steady in favor of Hayes. These odds have been about 100 to 70 ever since the nominations, the greatest fluctuations were on last Wednesday evening when a pool of $25 on Hayes to $30 on Tilden was sold. This seeming rising in the estimate of Tilden's chances is ascribed to Grant's proclamation concerning the southern troubles. A statement which has been published that betting upon the Presidential election was even was only true in case of French mutual pools, wherein one pool of 18 tickets sold upon each of the candidates. Odds in favor of Hayes have been about the same as those offered upon Barnes in the Ohio election and greater than those upon Williams in Indiana. Betting upon the success of the Presidential election in this State is about 100 to 60 in favor of Tilden. There has been considerable deviation to those figures, pools varying from Tilden 100, Hayes 60, to Tilden 500, Hayes 400. Upon the State ticket betting has been almost uniformly even. Slight odds in favor of Robinson were offered Wednesday at Morrissey's pool rooms.

Blaine in the West.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—James G. Blaine addressed an immense audience to-night. Probably not less than 20,000 persons were seated and standing as near the speaker as they conveniently could, and far more than that number were unable to get within hearing distance, and after lingering a brief time left the building. His address was received with marked enthusiasm and he was applauded to the echo. The fact that Mr. Blaine is one of the most popular of Republicans among the people of Illinois is well known and was fully demonstrated. At the conclusion of his speech there was a rush for the speaker's stand and a subsequent hand shaking between him and his political and personal friends and admirers. Finally from sheer fatigue he was compelled to push through the excited and appreciative crowds that lingered in the building waiting for a look at the honored statesman leader, and take a carriage for the hotel. At every step he was cheered and the way to his hotel was beset by cheering crowds. The ovation was spontaneous and heartfelt. Later in the evening he was serenaded and responded in a brief speech. He will make several more addresses in West during the coming week.

Political Meeting.

Milwaukee, Oct. 28.—The Democrats held a meeting to-night. 4,000 were present. Hendricks and W. F. Coolbaugh of Chicago made brief speeches. Mayor Butler presided. There were 1,200 torches.

Tilden's Income Again.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The Tribune's Washington special says the correspondence given below presumptively proves the charges against Tilden unless he can give indubitable proof of their falsity. The vindication which it is alleged he can make of himself lies in the hands of his friends and they refuse to furnish it, but merely say there is no legal power that can compel them. Evidence in the hands of U. S. District Attorney Bliss seems already to establish pretty clearly that the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne R. R. Co. about 1862 paid Tilden $20,000 for services, this being the year that he returned only $10,000 income. The evidence shows that this payment and Tilden's receipt is among the papers of that company, that books containing this information have been transferred to an officer of the company who is a special friend of Tilden, who refuses to accept them. This refusal coming from the board of directors of which Tilden is a member has special significance. On the [illegible] of Oct. District Attorney Bliss, writing from New York to Hon. Green B. Raum, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, set forth the following facts: That in course of preparation he had been making to carry out Raum's instructions to commence a suit against Tilden to recover the unpaid income tax he learned from creditable sources that in 1862 Tilden received from the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne Railroad company $20,000 and that entry of that payment appeared upon the books of the company and was substantiated by Tilden's voucher, which was among the papers of the co. As Tilden in 1862 paid tax only on $7,000 he thought it essential and correct to verify the information and [illegible] request [illegible] to procure access to books. [illegible] would gladly assist the government [illegible] the books and papers of the company had been recently transferred to the [illegible] a political friend of Tilden [illegible] books [illegible] Meyer [illegible] all examination [illegible] Meyer [illegible] authority [illegible] the district attorney [illegible] note declining to give the information, placing himself and the company on their legal rights [illegible] disclaimed any disrespect to the government or to the district attorney. The district attorney continues: It is, of course, clear that at the proper time the government can and will compel the production of the desired information, and refusal is only of importance [illegible] as it comes from a board of directors [illegible] and the mere fact of refusal it seems to me confirms the truth of the information. [illegible] It can hardly be believed that if the books and vouchers [illegible] contain the statements there would have been any hesitation in allowing access to them immediately. [illegible] if for the same year 1862 Tilden rendered services for which he charged and received $10,000 from the [illegible] Pacific railroad company, this is in addition to the $20,000 charged the same company for services in 1862 [illegible] and [illegible] which were paid and receipt [illegible] by Tilden. There is [illegible] March 2, 1865, by the same company, which is receipted for on account of professional services, the receipt being signed S. J. Tilden, per James [illegible]. I presume there is no doubt [illegible] to act for Tilden [illegible] the [illegible] R. R. shows he at the time covered by these charges [illegible] rendered services to the somewhat notorious Credit Mobilier with reference to the bills in equity prepared in its behalf, drawing a contract between the credit Mobilier and Oakes Ames and others [illegible] as to the suit of M[illegible] against the Credit Mobilier which would lead to the disclosure of the operations of that concern, all of which services may have been covered by the charge against the U. P. R. R. Co., though I have information which leads me to the opinion that Tilden also received considerable sums of money from the Credit Mobilier. I have gathered a good deal of information as to charges for services made by Tilden and payments made to him for services to other corporations and persons during the period covered by the income tax. They all go to show that he escaped taxation on very large amounts of income. I am still pursuing my examination, for though there is abundant ground for the immediate commencement of an action, it seems to me that there are reasons why delay is advisable, especially as briefly delay now will not postpone the final trial of the cause, while it gives opportunity for more careful and accurate preparations. Your obedient servant,

(Sgd) GEO. BLISS, U. S. Attorney."

New York, Oct. 28.—The Tribune editorially reasserts that the income tax frauds charged against Tilden remain utterly unexplained: that he was a poor man in 1872 and worth $3,000,000 in 1876 and in the meantime had paid taxes on an average income of less than $15,000.

The Times this morning publishes a letter from Abram S. Hewitt denying certain statements about Tilden's money affairs. Hewitt says the New York iron mine was a continuous source of expense and not of revenue up to 1862 and that it then only became profitable on account of a great rise in the price of iron. The Times says it is prepared to prove that the statement is not true.

The Greenback Candidates Define their Position.

New York, Oct. 27.—The candidates of the Independent greenback party for President and Vice President have issued to the voters of the country an address which vigorously arraigns both the old parties and clearly sets forth the principles which the candidates of the new party maintain. They say that there is to be no withdrawal or compromise on their part but they will stand firmly to the end. After giving the old stereotyped arguments in favor of more currency they continue: We hold that gold and silver as measures of value belong to ignorance, and the fact that ever since their adoption for that purpose they have floated from west to east, from intelligence to ignorance, from governments ruled by the people to arbitrary despotisms, from communities which adopt individual, corporate or national credit for the transaction of business to those who know no other uses for money than to bury it or manufacture into images or worship it, or into ornaments for their rulers, as in India, where more than two fifths of all these metals have already found their resting place, that it is idle to talk of turning their course from east to west, as demonstrated in England's reply as to the payment of the Geneva award, and the rise in the rate of interest to ten per cent by the Bank of England, when in 1873 the insignificant sum of $15,600,000 was shipped here to buy food for the famishing people of India. We would not take from the Government the right to impress gold or silver and make such tokens legal tender in payment of some obligations, but we hold that it is not their intrinsic value but the impress of the Government that determines their legal value. And we further hold that to re-establish these metals as the only measures of value would turn back the wheels of progress, paralyze industries, destroy enterprise, bankrupt every debtor, enslave labor and establish a moneyed oligarchy to rule and ruin the people. That such policy is in conflict with free government and the spirit of this age, and would not be tolerated except for the influence of the partisan press and growing familiarity with that class of legislation. We hold that there is an irrepressible conflict between those who think or whose interest it serves that the future currency of this country should be the product of labor in one material, and those who hold it should be based on the credit of the nation representing all its production, all its gold, all its silver, cotton, wheat, corn, rye, petroleum, butter, cheese and all the products of every man's labor; between currency that can be expanded when the business of the country requires it and one that can be controlled by a few when most needed by the many, or entirely withdrawn from the country whenever it suits the interest or caprice of its holders to do so; between those who hold wealth invested in government securities more sacred than wealth invested in private enterprise; between those who hold that a people should be made prosperous when called upon to bear heavy public burdens and those who hope to sustain public credit and national honor while they shrink the currency, destroy values and force millions of people into idleness; between those who would prune to enterprise and foster private enterprise and those who would bankrupt the nation to satisfy the greed of its creditors.

The Kilkenny Cat Fight.

New York, Oct. 28.—The Republicans seem likely to derive help from an unexpected quarter in the pending campaign. The struggle of Tammany vs. Tammany for the city government promises to be paramount. The defeat of either local faction by the other is political destruction, so each seems disposed to sacrifice national to municipal success. John Kelly doubtless is true to his pledge, but a panic seems impending in which no leadership can control fugitives. Unless some truce is arranged this conflict promises to reduce the Democratic majority for Tilden in this city quite one half.

General Election Items.

From Florida news comes indicating a decided possibility that the Republicans will carry the electoral ticket, though the Democrats will carry the State ticket.

News from Indiana causes exhilaration at Republican headquarters. It is claimed that public sentiment is setting steadily in favor of Hayes and Wheeler, and if a full vote comes out in November, the prediction is strong that the Republicans will carry the State.

The impression gains strength daily in pool rooms that Hayes will be elected, even without New York State, and the same men betting on Hayes on the general result give odds in favor of Tilden carrying the New York electoral vote.

A number of Louisiana Republicans returned home last week in consequence of information that hard work may carry that State also for Hayes, though little dependence is placed on this.

The Condition in South Carolina.

Charleston, Oct. 28.—Sixty Northern merchants, residents and doing business here, held a meeting to-night and adopted an address to the people of the United States, declaring Gov. ATLANTIC CABLE.

Failure of Another Arctic Expedition.

London, Oct. 28.—A telegram has been received announcing the return to Valentia of the British Arctic expedition under Capt. Nares, comprising the steamers Alert and Discovery. Progress to the North pole was found impracticable. Capt. Nares reports no land could be discovered to the northward of the highest latitude reached, namely, 83 deg. 20 min., but in other respects the expedition was a success. The Alert has proceeded to Queenstown and Capt. Nares to London [illegible].

London, Oct. [illegible].—The Alert and Discovery left Disko on July 29, 1875, and entered the ice. After severe and continuous struggles they reached the north side of Lady Franklin Bay, where the Discovery was left in winter quarters and the Alert pushed on and reached the limit of navigation on shore of the polar sea, the [illegible] feet deep. The [illegible] does not exist. The Alert wintered in lat. 82 [illegible]. At this point the sun was invisible 142 days and the lowest temperature ever recorded was experienced by them. A party with sledges was dispatched northward. It was absent 70 days and reached lat. 83 [illegible]. Another party reached Cape Columbia, the northernmost part of America, and traced it 20 miles westward from Greenland, and also explored eastward. These sledge parties met with no game and suffered from scurvy. Hans Peterson died from frost bite. John Porter of the Alert and James Hand and Charles Paul of the Discovery, died on a sledging expedition. No Esquimaux were seen, nor were any icebergs met with beyond Cape Union. The expedition encountered great difficulties. In returning the vessels left Smith's Sound September 9th. They signaled the Pandora October 10th, all well. The Alert parted from the Discovery in a gale on October 19th. She will shift her rudder at Valentia and proceed to Queenstown to coal. The admiral at Queenstown telegraphs that the Discovery is expected to arrive hourly.

During sledge journeys the ice was so rough that it was only possible to advance a mile a day during the winter. Rich collections in the department of natural history were made and many valuable scientific specimens taken. Excellent coal was found near the place where the Discovery wintered. The expedition experienced the coldest weather ever registered, the temperature being 59 degrees below zero for a fortnight and falling to over 104 degrees below the freezing point. The Pandora, when spoken by the Alert, reported herself slightly damaged by ice. The Pandora called at Littleton Island and Cape Isabella but was unable to reach Cape Sabine. As the expedition did not touch at Littleton Island on its return it missed the letters left by the Pandora. The health of the crews, with the exception already mentioned, has been good. Frost bites were severe but not numerous. Peters, interpreter, died in forty days after both feet had been amputated from frost bite. All members of the expedition declare it impossible to reach nearer the pole than their northern exploring party, which penetrated to within 400 miles of it. On their return from sledge journeys the men were in very helpless condition and it was necessary to draw some of them on sledges. The planking of the Alert was much damaged by ice.

A member of the expedition telegraphs to the Daily News that the northwestmost land reached was in lat. 83° 7'. After that there was ice. The point farthest west reached was in long. 86°. Lady Franklin Strait is really a bay. The northernmost point in Greenland was in lat. 82° 57'.

London, Oct. 28.—The British Arctic expedition brought home a specimen of wheat deposited by the American steamer Polaris while on her Arctic voyage.

Capt. Nares, commander of the Arctic expedition, has sent a telegram to the admiralty containing the following additional particulars of the voyage: The Polar Sea is never navigable. The ordinary ice averages eighty feet in thickness. Animal life and the northerly migration ends south of Cape Columbia. A memorial tablet was erected to Capt. Hall, of the Polaris expedition, at Polaris bay. Esquimaux traces existed on the west shore at lat. 81° 51', whence they cross to Greenland. The impracticability of reaching the North Pole was proved. All the neighboring lands were examined. The telegram confirms all the details of the expedition transmitted to us.

The Alert arrived at Valentia at 2:30 P. M., being the first landing made since leaving the frozen regions. She parted company with the Discovery in Valentia.

Dr. Slade's Case.

London, Oct. 27.—The case of Dr. Slade, the American medium, and Simmons, his assistant, were up again to-day, when the charge of conspiracy against them was dismissed and Simmons was, therefore, discharged from custody. A new prosecution was then commenced against Slade under the vagrant act. Magistrate Flowers expressed the opinion that there was a strong prima facie case against Slade under the act.

What Spain is Doing.

London, Oct. 27.—Detachments of artillery and cavalry will sail for Cuba on Monday, in addition to the 2,100 reinforcements already sent.

In connection with the recent insult to the Spanish ambassador to Italy by a committee appointed to superintend the reception to the Spanish pilgrims at the Vatican, the Spanish government has issued an order prohibiting the return of the prelates who, while in Rome, failed to call on the ambassador. The order especially mentions the archbishop of Granada.

Repressive measures in connection with the recently discovered conspiracy continue. Fresh arrests have been ordered. The rising was to have begun in Seville. A military insurrection was to have taken place at the same time, together with a revolt in the navy at Ferral and Cadiz.

France.

Paris, Oct. 27.—The manager of the Droits de L'Homme newspaper has been sentenced to two years imprisonment for insulting gentlemen of the army.

M. Gambetta addressed his constituents in Belleville to-day, urging moderation. His speech was well received.

A Prussian Election.

Berlin, Oct. 27.—The elections for the Prussian Chamber of Deputies were held to-day. The National Liberals have been successful in 169 cases, Ultramontanes in 30, Progressionists in 56, the Poles in 15, Particularists in 5, various sections of Conservatives in 62, and Neutrals in 1. The results in 25 districts have not yet been communicated. All successful candidates are progressionists.

Bank of England.

London, Oct. 28.—Amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day, £53,000.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

London, Oct. 27.—A telegram from Vienna reports that Prince Auersperg, president of the Austrian council, replying in the reichsrath to interpellations on the Eastern question, declared Austria's policy was above everything to maintain peace, consequently the tendency toward acquisition of foreign territory was out of the question. Count Andrassy could not suffer his policy to be influenced by the interests of different nationalities, but solely by those of the entire empire. He would continue resolutely to strive for the maintenance of peace and the amelioration of the condition of Christians in Turkey.

Constantinople, Oct. 27.—The Porte has telegraphed to its agents abroad a summary of the recent fighting with the result. The dispatch says the Turks stormed a fortification on the high mountain which is considered to be the key of the Servian position at Deligrade. They carried other intrenchments of less importance and took Goumik, near the Deligrade bridge, where the Servian headquarters [illegible] to Djunis, a large village beyond Goumik on the road to Krusevatz, and stormed several intrenchments. The Servians fled. Their losses are enormous. The Servian attack in the direction of Chatel was repulsed with heavy losses.

London, Oct. 27.—The Standard's Belgrade dispatch says an intelligent witness just returned from Deligrade reports the Servians are enduring fearful privations. On Sunday last 600 wounded were lying at huts and cafes which were used as hospitals. Half of these people had wounded themselves in order to procure their discharge.

A Vienna correspondent of the Standard telegraphs that the Servian government, in consequence of recent defeat, has again asked for the interference of the Powers in favor of peace. It is reported in Berlin that Turkey is endeavoring to treat directly with Servia.

The Post publishes in official form the following statement explanatory of the latest phase of negotiations: We understand the tendency of negotiations at Constantinople does not forbid the expectation of a pacific solution. General Ignatieff has intimated the willingness of Russia to assent to a six weeks armistice with the successive prolongations proposed by the Porte. There only now remains the condition for which the Porte stipulated, that all the Powers should concur as recommended in the armistice.

A Vienna dispatch to the Times reports that negotiations have taken an unexpectedly favorable turn. [illegible] the Powers [illegible] a clause for a general [illegible] armistice [illegible] the first prolongation [illegible] six weeks and obligatory.

Servian Ministry in Trouble.

Belgrade, Oct. [illegible].—The minister of war, Nicholitch, [illegible] Tchernayeff [illegible] the Russian [illegible] the Czar [illegible] Tchernayeff, exasperated at the action of the minister, wrote to Prince Milan demanding the removal of Nicholitch. A cabinet council was summoned in which Prince Milan and Ristics supported the war minister and declared the entire ministry was responsible for this action, and if M. Nicholitch resigned all would resign. Subsequently the minister of the interior went to Deligrad to endeavor to compromise with Tchernayeff. M. Nicholitch, however, resigned and matters now remain in suspense pending the return of the minister of the interior. Prince Milan is much irritated at Nicholitch's resignation and Tchernayeff's arrogance. The ministry have the support of public opinion in upholding the dignity of the government. Gen. Tchernayeff's conduct is generally condemned.

Col. Dochtoroff has resigned his position as chief of Tchernayeff's staff and has been appointed commander of the army of the [illegible]. Gen. [illegible], a Servian, replaces him on Tchernayeff's staff.

The German government, which was first informed of the Russian concession, has already expressed its adhesion and recommended the other powers to do the same. It is thought that Russia's action will be influenced by a desire to disarm the suspicion of Europe in Constantinople. The conviction grows that Russia is not seeking a pretext for rupture but is making a serious effort to bring about an arrangement which will allay the excitement of the Russian people and at the same time establish Russian ascendency in Turkey on solid and permanent footing.

London, Oct. 28.—All special correspondents, although differing as to details, confirm the reports of a pacific change in Russia's attitude towards Turkey.

The Daily News' Vienna dispatch says the conclusion of the armistice is considered certain. It is officially denied that Servia has requested intervention of the powers.

A dispatch from Belgrade to the Times reports that the resignation of the Servian Minister of War is considered inevitable. Joonvich, chief of Prince Milan's staff, will probably be his successor.

The article published in official form in this morning's Post explanatory of the latest phase of negotiations on the Eastern Question, a portion of which was sent to us, also says an armistice is agreed upon. Then comes the question of conference. Russia objects to Turkish participation therein. It may be assumed this refers solely to the position of a power deliberating on its own case. Obviously if six powers meet to discuss recommendations to be made to a seventh there is something anomalous in giving this latter the casting vote in their deliberation, but it is impossible for a moment to consent to the exclusion of Turkey from the European system of which in virtue of the treaty of Paris she forms a part. It ought to be practicable to find a method by which a representative of the Porte may sit in the conference so as to obviate this difficulty. Before a conference is summoned the questions of its basis and objects which might occasion protracted and dangerous debate should by unanimous agreement be reduced to the simplest terms, which may be stated thus: Is the basis of the conference the maintenance of the independence and integrity of the Ottoman Empire? The object is the amelioration of the condition of the Christian subjects of the Sultan. This basis could not alarm Turkey regarding her sovereign rights. This object is the one which Russia professed alone to have in view. We are not without foundation for the hope that the solution here foreshadowed may be happily effected.

The Pall Mall Gazette takes quite a hopeful view of the peace prospect.

London, Oct. 28.—The Times says the feeling that the war is staved off at least for the winter becomes much more prevalent.

The Servian cabinet difficulty is in a fair way of being settled. It is probable that Nicolash will consent to retain the portfolio of minister of war.

A telegram from the minister of the interior at Deligrade to Prime Minister Ristics, in reply to inquiry, says the Turks have not taken Djunis.

Constantinople, Oct. 29.—An extraordinary council of ministers was held Thursday to consider the armistice question. The German, Russian, Austrian and Italian ambassadors conferred together on Friday. Gen. Ignatieff, Russian ambassador, will have an interview with the Sultan to-day.

Ragusa, Oct. 28.—Dervish Pasha has withdrawn from Podgoritza to Vrandy district, in the rear of Ialotha.

The surrender of Medin to the Montenegrins has produced a strong impression in Albania. The Montenegrins have liberated the Albanian prisoners taken during the recent fighting.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

A Destructive Cyclone.

Panama, Oct. 19.—A severe cyclone passed over the Central American States on the 3d and 4th inst. The town of Managua, Nicaragua, was inundated on the 4th inst. About 400 houses were blown down. The inhabitants were obliged to climb to tops of houses to prevent being washed away by the flood. Many were drowned by houses falling. Total damage estimated at £2,000,000. The town of Blanfields, on the Mosquito coast, Nicaragua, also experienced a hurricane. Over 300 houses were blown down. The same storm passed over Lake Nicaragua causing immense damage. The Commodore Adams, a lake steamer, was lost. The loss on the coffee crop is estimated at $3,000,000. About twenty lives were lost. The whole district is completely flooded.

The steamer Costa Rica, from Panama Sept. 29, for Acapulco, was caught in the storm of the 4th inst. and roughly used, losing the head of the main mast, main top and gaff, two quarter boats and a blade from her propeller.

Saved from a Wreck.

Panama, Oct. 10.—The bark Prima, very recently arrived from Montevideo, reports having received from the American ship Independence the crew of the English ship Scotstown, bound from Glasgow to San Francisco. The Scotstown had been blown on her beam ends in a squall, and subsequently foundered.

CAN UNION MEN VOTE FOR LANE?

READ THE RECORD AND THEN ANSWER.

Portland, Oct. 28, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Allow a few suggestions. The Secession Bourbon element of the Democratic party has come to the front. Look for the Palmetto flag in place of the stars and stripes in due time. Another war within two years possible.

Wagner, a poor lame Union man, is turned out of the office of State librarian to make room for Leister, fresh from the rebel army. Rebels to the front! Sam Parker and other Union Democrats please take a back seat.

Grover the Bourbon triumphs over Nesmith, a war Democrat,—for what reason? Grover is a Palmetto—Nesmith is for the red, white and blue.

Are the Lanes secessionists? Gen. Lane, the great Nestor of modern Democracy, is again on the stump. Here are his real sentiments, uttered in the U. S. Senate on the 2d day of March, 1861, from which I quote word for word:

"The doctrines asserted in the series of resolutions offered by Mr. Davis have not been maintained, and as a consequence events have since transpired detrimental to the public peace and the welfare of the country and destructive of its unity. The Union has been in fact broken up. * * * I stated on a former occasion that the Democracy of old Connecticut would never join the Republican party in any attempt to coerce the Southern States. * * * I know long, well and intimately the gallant men of Oregon—that they will not be found ready or inclined, at the Senator's and his master's beck, to imbrue their hands for a godless cause in fraternal gore. * * * Mr. President, in my remarks which I made on the 19th of December last in reply to the Senator from Tennessee I took the ground that a State might rightfully secede from the Union. * * * Coercion is usurpation and tyranny. * * * As a Democrat I am bound to respect the declared will of the sovereign States. * * * They would at least refrain from ungenerous insinuations against the patriotism of those Northern Democrats who like myself reprobate the policy of coercion. * * * And yet upon this floor there are some men base enough to allude to him as a traitor. Mr. President, I have not words to express my contempt for any man that can apply such a term to such a man as Jefferson Davis. Jefferson Davis a traitor! Treason applied to him! He the purest and bravest of patriots."

This speech has never been repudiated by the General or his would be Congressman son Lafayette. How can any Union man vote for him now while the secession element of this nation is making every effort to come to the front again?

OBSERVER.

ARITHMETICAL PROBLEM.

Jefferson, Oct. 26, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The following is a mathematical problem which I would like to have some of your readers solve. I have been told it was possible but never saw it solved. Divide $100 between four persons so that the first will receive one third, the second one fourth, the third one fifth, the fourth one sixth.

N. T. Y.

[The several fractions given lack one twentieth of being equal to the whole. The problem therefore is inconsistent with itself and impossible. But $100 can be so divided among four persons as to give them shares in proportion of 6, 5, 4 and 3, which would come nearer to fulfilling the conditions of the problem than any other process we can think of, unless it be to award to the respective parties the exact proportion of $100 which the problem requires and use the $5 which would remain over in paying for a first-class newspaper—the Oregonian, for instance.]

THE TERRITORIES.

Quite a number of new settlers have recently arrived in Whatcom county.

Several valuable horses have lately been foundered unto death on wheat at Walla Walla.

"Erie Mining District," composed of Fidalgo, Guemes and Jack islands, W. T., has recently been organized. Quartz claim holders did it.

The Reporter says the total valuation of property in Polk county is $2,338,569. Indebtedness $607,960. Exempt from tax $158,000. Taxable property $1,560,711. Number of polls 798. The tax levy is 16½ mills on the dollar. State tax 6½ mills raises $10,144.62; school tax 3 mills, $4,682.13; county purposes 7 mills, $10,922.97. Total tax to be raised $25,749.72. Add to this amount 798 polls at $1 each and it brings the sum to be collected up to $26,547.72. It might not be uninteresting to the people to add here that there are in Polk county six men who pay over $300 taxes each, twelve over $200 each, twenty two over $150 each, and fifty two over $100 each.

Following is the tax levy for Yamhill county: For county revenue 7 mills on each $1, $14,300.51; State tax 5 mills, $10,214.65; bounty tax 1 mill, $2,042.93; relief tax ½ mill, $1,042.65; school tax 3 mills, $6,128.79; tax for purpose of building jail 2 mills, $4,085.86. Total amount of taxable property, $2,042,930. Total amount of taxes levied, $37,797.39. The two mills allowed for the purpose of building a county jail is not an extra levy, but is taken from the levy for county revenue, the original levy for raising county funds being nine mills on the dollar, and the total levy, 18½ mills, is not inc[illegible]

TILDEN'S INCOME AGAIN.

Governor Tilden's income has come again, and to all appearances has come this time to stay. Although the first exposure had an ugly look, there was at least room for explanation. The explanation did not come in such form as to satisfy the public mind, but it did leave something to be said on both sides. But now the case takes a still more serious turn. Official effort to get at the truth, not for the campaign but for the purpose of placing the government in possession of facts important for it to have in the collection of its revenues, is met by a refusal to allow an inspection of the books of a railway company, in which Mr. Tilden himself is a director. First, the books containing, or supposed to contain, a record of $50,000 paid to Tilden at a time when he returned an income of only $17,000, are put out of the hands of the regular custodian of the company's records, and [illegible] the hands of a political friend of Tilden. Application is made to him for an inspection of the books, and he falls back on the President of the company. The President is applied to by the proper officer of the government, and he shuffles the responsibility upon the board of directors, whom he agrees to call together. He does call them—Tilden being of the number, and they, seeing no room for further shuffling, answer the application with a peremptory refusal.

It may be an unpleasant thing for a corporation to have its books overhauled by strangers. But there is no reason why it would be more unpleasant for a private individual to have his books overhauled. If corporation books are more likely than individuals' books to contain matters which would not bear the light, that is not a reason why they should be more free from inspection, but why inspection should be insisted upon all the stronger. Now, it is a common thing for private individuals to exhibit their books to persons officially or even individually interested, in a legitimate way, in inspecting them. But Mr. Tilden's corporation declines to do this, and that at a time when every consideration of his own interests and the interests of the party which has nominated him for the highest office in the gift of the nation, imperatively demand the exhibition of the books, provided they contain nothing damaging to him. Under the circumstances it will be but applying to the case the same rule of evidence which is applied to other cases, if the public shall conclude the charge against him established as completely by his refusal to show the books as it would be if they were examined and found to contain the items he is accused of con[illegible]

[illegible]LATIONS OF THE REFORMERS.

If evidence were wanting that the Democracy is really the party of reform and honesty, it is abundantly furnished by the proceedings of the managers of that party in Philadelphia, as detailed by the [illegible] which we publish this morning. [illegible] the paying of a poll or personal tax is a prerequisite to voting. The [illegible] want the votes of the irresponsible who can be collected in and about the city of Philadelphia at election, but it costs too much to furnish vagabonds with tax receipts at regular rate. So the managers resolve on a cheaper way; they will issue bogus [illegible]. But an obstacle is encountered at the outset. The regular tax receipts have certain words fixed in the [illegible] water-lines which it is difficult to imitate. Unless these water line words appear in the receipt the fraud is sure to be detected. So they set about the task of obtaining paper prepared to meet this requirement. It is not stated whether a paper mill was built expressly for the occasion, or whether some one of the existing mills in Philadelphia was subsidized for the work. Be that as it may, the paper was manufactured and delivered to the Democratic managers, and so well was the work performed that it is declared impossible to distinguish the counterfeit from the genuine.

But further trouble awaits these reformers. The scheme has somehow or other leaked out and come to the ears of the officers of the Republican city committee, who instead of privately notifying the Democratic managers of the danger they would incur by attempting to carry it out, quietly and even secretly set detectives on track of the managers. The result of this was that last Friday night two prominent Democratic managers, one the treasurer of the party's central committee, and the other a candidate on its ticket for a high office, were seen to carry a large bundle of this bogus receipt paper out of the rooms at the headquarters of the Democratic committee and deposit them in a hack or cab which had arrived at that place, and into which one of the two, the committee's treasurer, also climbed, while the other sauntered off up Walnut street, feeling no doubt the comfortable composure and self-satisfaction which must, in the nature of things, be the immediate reward of the virtuous efforts of these honest reformers to secure purity in political contests, and especially a pure ballot-box. Away the carriage drove, with the committeeman inside, while his busy brain, no doubt, revolved fresh schemes of reform and honesty. But the driver is ordered to halt, and the minions of a corrupt government drag the noble reformer out and seize the paper prepared with so much pains and under so many difficulties for the purpose of reforming and purifying the election. In that fatal moment no less than fifty thousand of these reform tax receipts were gobbled up, and then the Democratic committeeman was carried before a magistrate, who, on hearing the facts, held him to bail in $5,000 for conspiring to perpetrate a fraud in the election. Could tyranny go further! Well, it did go further; it went out to hunt up the other reformer, who, as we remarked, was last seen strolling up Walnut street, enjoying the luxury of an approving conscience and the prospect of an election to the Pennsylvania Legislature—an office which history declares to be one of the most lucrative in the State, when judiciously managed. At last accounts this second reformer and patriot had not been taken, but it was considered certain he would be.

Thus the Democracy persevere in their reformatory labors, and thus are they beset with difficulties, pursued by spies and obstructed in every way that the ingenuity of their corrupt adversaries can invent. The same system of persecution that thwarts their endeavors in Philadelphia follows their track day and night in New York and Brooklyn, where their efforts to reform the State by registering 40,000 more votes than there are in those cities, with a view to having a great many patriotic but unknown persons vote over and over again under different names, for reform and honest government, are met on every hand by impediments thrown in the way intentionally and deliberately by the Republicans. Such things were done in the good old days of pure Democracy and Tweed. Will those days return no more forever!

A DISPEPTIC FRENCHMAN'S VIEWS OF AMERICANS.

Monsieur De Issummard, chief of the French Commission to our Centennial Exposition, has written a letter in which he sets down the American nation as "a large den of small thieves." If he is to be believed nothing at the exposition was safe from the furtive disposition of the average American, especially nothing French. Not only did the thieves assail the French department in season and out of season, with perfect impunity, but they even committed arson in order to destroy whatever was French. And when the injured innocents abroad went to the courts for redress, the judges took sides with the villains, and, though they would have them arrested in order to preserve appearances, would set their trials at such unearthly hours that no well-bred Frenchman could possibly attend, or else keep the hour of the hearing a profound secret, so that no witnesses would appear and prosecute. Nay, even worse; the judges would sometimes tip a wink at the thieving rascals—of whom they themselves, it may be inferred, were pals—when an opportune moment for larceny, especially larceny from a Frenchman, arrived, and the knaves were never slow to take the hint.

We are sorry for this French gentleman, because if he believes all that he says to be true, he must have suffered a great deal of agony while he was in Philadelphia surrounded by those American Arabs, official and unofficial. But we fear there was something the matter with his digestive organs, which made him see thieves where there were none. We have not heard of other nations being plundered at the Centennial. We have never heard before that justice was administered in Philadelphia after so singular a manner. Nor has it been made public from any other source that the judges in the city of Brotherly Love and broad brim hats were in the habit of spying out the land for the thieves of the city, and informing where and when it would be safe to make predatory raids on the rest of mankind—and especially French mankind. Ever since the days of La Fayette a great many French people have lived in the United States, and in the city of Philadelphia, and some of them very intelligent and observing people too, and we have never heard that they found the American nation a nation of thieves. Some of them have, indeed, said very complimentary things about America and American institutions.

The Americans at Paris are reported to be much exercised over the appearance of this Centennial commissioner's letter. If the summary of it which is telegraphed, is correct, there is no occasion for them to feel at all hurt, for its exaggerations and misstatements are so absurd as to need no refutation. Nobody will believe them. People on the other side of the Atlantic may suppose the Americans lack very much of being a highly cultured and refined people, but they will not believe us to be a nation of thugs.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen, citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become Stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an Institution where similar to those in California, the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the Industries of the North Pacific Coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the Stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value, hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory; but also,

2d. The Bank's own $300 000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.
Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.
Rates of interest on application.
Hours from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association Regulations and By laws for depositors, may be seen at the Bank's office.

By order of Directors,

Managing Director

CITY.

CHILD LECTURER — A correspondent writing from Milwaukie under date of the 28th says "Last Tuesday our town was visited by Dr Smith and daughter from Salem These persons claim to be spiritualists and there are some circumstances connected with them which seem strange to me as well as to a great many others In the first place Miss Smith, who is but fourteen years of age, is a lecturer She has already delivered our people with two discourses and the language used in each was so extremely beautiful that it is difficult for me to believe that she was the author of it The second evening she was laboring under a rather severe attack of sore throat, which accounts for the shortness of the lecture, but it was well rendered and in such a style as would suit the most refined critic Dr Smith claims to be a medium and as one of our well known citizens stood up, he (the Dr) described minutely the disease which was beginning to prey upon him. We are very skeptical on the whole but most pronounce the phenomena which we witnessed at our schoolhouse as something strange and interesting We understand that the Dr and his daughter will soon leave us for Portland where she will deliver a course of lectures. If true we advise our Portland friends to turn out en masse and hear for themselves this child wonder lecturer"

PASSENGER LIST — The steamer Geo W Elder which sailed from San Francisco for Portland last Saturday, brings the following passengers Howard, U S A Hon W Stickney and wife, Hon A E Barstow, Hon D H Jerome, Joseph Teal, wife and daughter M Wilkins, J K Carr, Mrs J A Strowbridge, A S Eckler, E J Debart, wife and daughter, B Fleischer A Goldsmith G E , John Hume, W Miner O Andean D. KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS — In speaking of this an exchange says "The order of the Knights of Pythias is making rapid strides in as well as elsewhere Its growth in the past has been wonderful, and during the session of the Supreme Lodge at Philadelphia 2,000 Knights in full armor paraded It was the grandest and most imposing of the Centennial series At the present time there are four lodges in Oregon, two in Portland, one at Coos Bay in Pendleton There is also a lodge at Walla Walla, Washington Territory When we will have five lodges it shall be entitled to a Grand Lodge. Oregon will shortly have more than the required number and Oregon City having each applied for a charter within the past fortnight We learn that in about two weeks hence, City lodge will be instituted A delegation of Portland Knights will proceed to that place for the purpose of assisting and a parade of uniformed headed by a band of music may be at that time by the citizens of both COMPLAINTS. — The merchants doing business on street between Oak and Pine com in most decided terms about the institution known as the "Blue Lights" where men congregate and keep up, during the night, a most unearthly discord of sounds. So do these merchants complain, but they are greatly annoyed by the people of the house aforesaid We believe there is an ordinance relating to such houses, and it is hoped the one in question will be looked after by the police.

MEDDLING — A young man who reprimanded a drunken man on the Pacific wharf yesterday got a stinging blow under the eye from the inebriated individual for his pains. A third party stepped in, and had it not been in a determined manner he, too would have "received just one" for his interference The belligerents retired and sobered off and the one who received a black eye proceeded to remove the blood produced from the

MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT — A number of young ladies and youths have formed themselves into a society for the purpose of mutual improvement, and on Friday evening last held their initial meeting which was largely attended Miss Clark was voted president and Howard vice president Arrangements were made for carrying out a series of literary exercises during the coming season. NOMINATION — At the special meeting of the council, held Saturday evening Mr Harrington nominated S Blumauer for councilman to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of John Catlin The matter was laid on the table, probably to be taken up again at the meeting next Wednesday

AMUSEMENTS.

THE SAWTELLE TROUPE — Performances were given at New Market Theater last Saturday afternoon and evening by the Sawtelle dramatic troupe Notwithstanding the rain descended in perfect torrents a very good audience was present on each occasion "East Lynne" was produced at matinee in a very creditable style. In the evening "Arrah Na Pogue" was rendered in a very acceptable manner to a large audience When all the disadvantages under which the troupe labored are taken into consideration the play was produced surprisingly well and all rendered the audience entire satisfaction judging from the frequent applause which greeted the house as the plot progressed The capital farce of the "Two Puddifoots" concluded an enjoyable evening's entertainment This morning the troupe will start for the Sound

BOATING NEWS.

The steamers E N Cooke and Occident were the only boats lying at the Central dock yesterday

The steamer Emma Hayward is lying at the boneyard undergoing some needed repairs and a general overhauling

Capt Baughman is now master of the new boat Alice and Capt Jimmy Troup has command of the steamer Vancouver

Having received a shaft and wheel the steamer Dixie Thompson has again taken her place on the Portland Astoria route She is running in connection with the Boats

The steamers Wallamette Chief and Orenta are now running between this city and the Cascades in order to meet the demands of trade Great quantities of freight are coming down the Columbia

A new steamboat will be built next season at Celilo by the O S N Co The new craft will be 160 feet long, feet beam and feet hold Work will be commenced early next spring and crowded forward to an early completion

Owing to the great rush of freight the large and commodious steamer Daisy Ainsworth will make regular daily trips between the upper Cascades and the Dalles until about the 1st of December The Idaho has been fitted up for the winter trade and is in good condition for service

The commodious new wharf boat at Celilo has just been completed This wharf boat is 160 feet long, 30 feet beam and 6 feet hold On a depth of 2 feet the boat can carry 480 tons of freight It is one of the most substantial and convenient improvements made by the company for a long time

Mr John Holland chief builder of the O S N Co has just returned from the Upper Wallamet where he has been engaged for some days in endeavoring to raise the steamer Bonanza, which run on a rock just above Rock Island All attempts thus far made to raise the sunken boat have proved abortive The Bonanza struck against a rock while coming down stream under a full head of steam tearing a terrible hole in the side of the hull A temporary bulkhead was built around the rent and an attempt made to free the hull from water by pumping However that had to be abandoned as it was found impossible to close up the hole tight enough A small portion of the machinery has been taken out but it is exceedingly doubtful about getting out the remainder If the water rises sufficient to float the boat off the rocks she may be towed to some place and beached and when the water recedes next spring the boiler and machinery can be easily taken out Should she remain where she now lies the heavy current will probably tear her to pieces and all prove a total loss

Forestalling Disease.

When we see that death is so often the penalty paid for a fatuous disregard of the symptoms of approaching disease should we not be warned against the folly of neglecting defensive measures when called for in our own case? Assuredly we should and upon the first manifestation of ill health or decay of physical vigor seek the aid of medicine The fortifying influence upon the system of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters entitle that medicine of many virtues to the highest consideration as a preventive as it cannot be too strongly recommended as a means of arresting the progress of malarious fevers dyspepsia constipation liver complaint kidney and bladder troubles gout, rheumatism and other disorders which in their incipiency are far more easily overcome than in their maturity —albeit the great alterative has repeatedly demonstrated its power to vanquish them in their worst phases

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 30, 1876.

BAWLING BELLA.

Oh, dear! some cotton! what a fearful din!
Why, there she stands the sweetest elf alive,
Her hair untortured by a crimping pin,
The widest little shoes we could contrive,
No cruel corset those soft ribs to fret,
From a loose belt her light sash fluttering falls,
The very picture of lithe ease, and yet
She bawls! our Bella bawls!

And how she bawls! just see those knotted scowls,
How the sobs struggle in her little throat,
What swelling gurgles, what tumultuous howls,
And then, at last, that long, wild, piercing note
Poor Bridget trembles, faithless brothers jeer,
Mamma turns pale, "Who's killed?" the father calls,
And the wide eyes of startled guests say, "Hear!
"She bawls! your Bella bawls!"

And all the world seems bawling in reply
Nat barks like mad, the cross old parrot scolds
The six canaries, sworn to do or die,
Shriek till a napkin every cage enfolds
The robins wrangle where the cherries grow,
The horses whinny in the distant stalls,
The hens all cackle, and the roosters crow—
She bawls! our Bella bawls!

With angry hum the bees go buzzing by,
The sparrows bicker sharply on the eaves,
The ruffled peacock screams a sharp reply,
The rose-tree rattles all her fretful leaves,
The very winds of heaven, in pettish flaws,
Break from the frowning clouds in clamorous squalls,
The sleepy thunder growls, and all because
She bawls! our Bella bawls!

Why does she bawl? Dear me! I wish I knew!
Come see these lovely ladies in a row,
With yellow curls and eyes of summer blue,
From Paris, all complete from top to toe.
What if those two who've lost their wigs look ill,
What if that stupid Bid will call them "dawls,"
We'll say they're queens and countesses, oh, still
She bawls! our Bella bawls!

She's turning purple! Oh, what shall I do?
She'll split her little larynx in a trice;
[illegible], darling, look! your tea-things from Aunt Sue.
[illegible] this milk and water is so nice;
[illegible] must have come just fresh from Spain.
[illegible] meriqued, in melting, foaming balls,
[illegible] thing you ever ate! in vain—
[illegible] bawls! our Bella bawls!

[illegible] ma! one choked and gasping cry,
[illegible] shivering on that gentle breast she lies,
[illegible] sing," she sobs; the tempest passes by,
The starlight glimmers in the softening eyes,
[illegible] on the storm-swept little heart and brain
Falls the sweet voice, as David's harp on Saul's.
[illegible] is no charm like mother's singing, when
[illegible] bawls! our Bella bawls!

A DANCE AT SEA.

[illegible] Fanny" in Appleton's Journal.] [illegible] ago I was sailing over the broad [illegible] the 4th of July. To please his Amer-[illegible], the captain, a warm-hearted [illegible] the ship with flags from [illegible]. It was a magnificent day—[illegible] a breath of wind to lift the semi-[illegible] golden-stained hers in the at-[illegible] ed so the boatswain "piped all [illegible] for a holiday frolic.

[illegible] gers "piped" themselves, and [illegible] in a body to see the sailors act an origi-[illegible], in which, disguised as elephants, [illegible] and other animals, they did incon-[illegible] things. Then they gave a con-[illegible] minstrels, with a world of [illegible] and characteristic humor. And in [illegible] jolly spirits we got, to be sure! [illegible] bright, charming young fellow—[illegible] the whole ship—passengers, officers, [illegible] monkey—to a ball in [illegible] ending in a supper at his expense, [illegible] that we danced to the figures as [illegible] out. We were ready at that [illegible] to dance on our heads to [illegible] looked on at a distance with [illegible], while he gave some [illegible] tions to an old salt, which [illegible] writing on his part and much [illegible] part of the tar, who walked [illegible] looking as tickled as a little boy

[illegible] was cleared for action, [illegible] rode through the heavens [illegible] or bridle," as a "horsy" pes-[illegible]. The captain's "finely [illegible] ly at the subversion [illegible] as an amateur sculptor ob-[illegible] old sailor who [illegible] fiddle and was to do the [illegible] out his Cremona, which [illegible] to perfection as he tried [illegible] good old tunes of "Monie [illegible] ish," and "The Dash-[illegible]" and soon after the dan-

[illegible] your starboard tack and let [illegible] it pass, then bear up and get your [illegible] the other tack; regain your berth [illegible] port tack; back and fill with your [illegible] boxhaul, and wear round twice [illegible] the sun in company with the opposite [illegible] your own, afterward boxhaul and [illegible] round to place!"

[illegible] with the sailors they kept us [illegible] ings," and we waited, 'mid shouts [illegible], for the next figure, which [illegible] in the vernacular as "forward

[illegible] this same "right hand across, which [illegible] translated into to "Heave ahead [illegible] the adversary yard-arm to yard-[illegible] the whole figure with such droll [illegible] we were aching with laughing, [illegible] "Regain your berth by the best [illegible] and let go the anchor." [illegible] of the cotillion, given with sailing [illegible] was so riotously funny that the jig [illegible] it was according to every one's [illegible] the pharaphrase were as [illegible] could be—commencing with, [illegible] round to starboard, passing under [illegible] 's bows, and sight with the cat-[illegible] of all the crafts;" and ending with, [illegible] the whole squadron in the circular [illegible] ing."

[illegible] is to grow fat, our individual [illegible] jolly 4th of July in the middle [illegible] ought to have been prodigiously [illegible]. The sailors greeted every figure [illegible] various cheers and a "Yo-heave-ho!" [illegible] laughed till we could not gasp.

[illegible] F. Kane, a boy 14 years of age, resid-[illegible] his parents on Roberts' Hill, Doug-[illegible] ty, met with a painful accident last [illegible]. He was picking a blasting powder [illegible] the cap exploded, tearing off the [illegible] of the left hand, and the point of [illegible] thumb. The finger was taken from [illegible] smoothly as it is possible to im-[illegible]. The boy's hand was bandaged without [illegible] of a surgeon, and when last heard from [illegible] doing well.

[illegible] Guard says: "Some of our ex-[illegible] are still repeating the statement that [illegible] H. Abrams died from smallpox. It [illegible] true. She undoubtedly died of typhoid [illegible]. We learn that the copper mine near Sailor [illegible] Josephine county, has been sold to California capitalists. The sale was effected by [illegible] sending down to San Francisco 230 sacks [illegible]. When the company takes charge of the mine extensive smelting works will at [illegible] be put up and other improvements made.

Mr. [illegible] T. Dunton, of Lane county, had the [illegible] tune to lose a crop of oats valued at [illegible] last week, by improper drying causing [illegible] heat in the warehouse. The same [illegible] plaint is made among several growers, [illegible] no doubt will receive more careful atten-[illegible] at their hands in the future.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO Oct 28—The week that has just closed has been marked by no great variations in the prices of the principal cereals, and though there has been a very large legitimate business transacted in nearly every branch of produce and the speculators dealings have nearly equaled those of the previous week the situation seems practically unchanged as regards the future. The Eastern question seems to have assumed a phase which will prevent sudden rise in the near future on account of the probable war, and prices here seem to have a receding rather than advancing tendency. Receipts have been large and the shipments not so heavy, as has been expected, consequently stocks are not moving out rapidly, and a season of the year is approaching when freights are inevitably high. The price of cash wheat has ranged from $1 09 to $1 13 closing at $1 10½. Receipts of wheat for the week, 585,000 bushels against 90,000 for the same time last year. Shipments have been 580,000 bushels, against 721,000 for the same time last year. The falling off in receipts since last year in the face of high prices indicate either great confidence on the part of producers that there will be war and higher prices further on or that the crops in the northwest have fallen far short of expectations, based on statistics and observation of usually accurate observers.

Wheat and Corn Market.

LIVERPOOL, Oct 27—The leading grain circular issued to-day in its review of the past week, says the weather has been dry and farmers are busy in the fields. Hence there has been a considerable decrease in supplies of British wheat, and an advance in values in many cases of a shilling per quarter. Foreign, on the contrary has tended rather downwards, as millers, having purchased freely last week, are for the moment out of the market. Business, since Tuesday has been quiet and of a retail character, but importers are indisposed to press sales, and values remain nominally unaltered. Maize has been slow, rates rather favoring buyers. There was a limited attendance at this market to-day, and transactions in wheat were of the smallest compass, but there was no pressure to sell. A reduction of a penny per cental was conceded in a few instances. Flour is very dull and easier. Corn was in moderate demand at a decline of three pence.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder, with freight and passengers, sailed from San Francisco for this port at the usual hour to-day.

The British bark Zoe, Peterson, from Valparaiso is about due. The Swedish bark Gibraltar lately sailed from Hull England, for this port

There are now at this port and in the river 22 vessels belonging to the grain fleet—some just arrived, some discharging ballast and cargo, some loading and some finished. Of the latter are the Marianne, Bluche, Frederic, Warwick Castle and Corsica, ready to sail.

The barks Salado and Armanella, and the ship Titan went to sea on the 24th.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH, AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—21 choice grain farms—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.
